The Loomer, opera house was the mecca for what seemed to be a great portion of the population of the city and surrounding towns Thursday evening to do honor to William E. Foran, who played the leading role of Dr. Whatt in that delightfully pleasing musical comedy. "A Broken Idel."

At no time this season has the house been graced with such an eathusiastic and appreciative audience. The S. R. O. sign was hung out early in the evening. The entire show is deserving of much favorable comment, but it was due chiefly to the presence of "Billy" that the large audience went wild with delight time and time and again.

At the conclusion of the first act Mayor Daniel P. Dunn, in behalf of San Jose council, No. 14, K. of C. presented Mr. Foran with an elegant watch fob and K. of C. charm on the stage in one of his characteristic and stirring speeches. Mr. Foran responded in a most gracious manner and then everyone applauded sgaln.

Immediately after the performance the male members of the cast, with Mr. Foran, adjourned to the Montgomery Hose company. The temperature rose to a height of 13 degrees above at one time during the day in front of Stiles & Harrington's on Main street. This was the highest mark recorded in this city throughout the day. At 4 o'clock the temperature had dropped to 9 above and was falling quite rapidly. It was by far the most steady cold all day long and through the evening of any, day this winter. It is believed that if the cold continues throughout the night, as it now indicates, that the lowest mark will be registered between midnight and sunup.

BLANKET ATTACHMENT

Slapped on "Broken Idol" Company on Thursday Evening by Members Who Claim Salaries.

A scene that was not billed in advance was pulled off in connection with the musical comedy. "The Broken Idol." Thursday evening at the Loomer Opera house. A sort of blanket attachment covering the advance sale box office receipts, scenery and all the properties of this production was slapped upon it, amounting to 1450, by Constable W. J. Hastings. The papers were issued through the office of Attorney George E. Hinmon, upon advices of Harry H. Adams, secretary to Manager Ralph Harlan, and Mrs. J. P. Shepard, Louise Shepard and Mertie Beaumont, three members of the cast, who claimed that amount to be due them for services. Carl Porter, until recently connected with the show came on from Boston Thursday morning and got next to House Manager J. H. Gray, alleging that he and three ladies—Gertrude Rutland, Lottle Lee and Teresa Fletch-Trolley service between this city and Norwich was nil Thursday afternoom. People desiring to go to Baltic and other points south had to avail themselves of the steam road. The cause of the stopping of the trolleys was said to be a broken feed wire and the break could not be located. Rutland, Lottle Lee and Teresa Fletcher—also late members of the company, had claims against the company for wages. Their combined claims are $105. Mr. Porter did not attempt an attachment here but tried to at Plainfield, N. J., where he and the three ladies closed with the show Dec. 18. Frank Gallup of this city was appointed keeper under the terms of the attachment, the writ being returnable in this city Feb. 12, 1910. It is said that orders have been given to have the attachment released as the company boards the train for its next jump today. Miss Frances Casey of this city has been engaged by Supt. C. E. The new doll, the invention of a Munich woman, Marion Kaulitz, is known as the character doll, and it is having a tremendous vogue in Germany. Instead of a doll with a biank. having a tremendous vogue in Germany. Instead of a doll with a biank, lifeless face, begowned and beribooned, her dolls have individuality and they are dressed just as the children who play with them are dressed every day.

"Children who are guided by good, healthy instinct," says the inventor, "turn away from the unnatural dolls dressed out of all reason. This is seen in the oft-noted fact that many a little girl will leave her fine new doll to caress and play with her old, everyday one, begrimed instead of begowned. A child is always shy when the visitor's well dressed little girl is ushered in upon her, and she never plays in real earnest with her until they meet in equal terms in the sandhey meet in equal terms in the sand-

they meet in equal terms in the sandpile."

So Fraulein Kaulitz who is an artist, has enlisted the services of other artists, and the new doll is being turned out by the hundreds. One of the first to purchase a doll was the empress, who wanted a little boy dressed in gaudy stripes and with a real wholesome looking German face on him for the youngest son of the crown prince. Since then the new doll craze has been sweeping the empire.

The toy men say that this opens up an entirely new world of doll possibilities. Some efforts have been made to introduce in the world's markets Japanese and Chinese dolls, but these never ranked higher than curios that no child of any other nation wanted.

Fraulein Kaulitz was a portrait painter when the idea came to her.
All the portraits she paints now are on the little papier mache heads she buys from a scuiptor of Munich, who models them with his own hands. On these she defity picks out with the

The bodies are of leather and flexible. This permits them to be placed in any position. Effective groupings of these dolls in German shop windows are just now delighting crowds in the Christmas toy markets. Some of the German wits refer to it as the return of the doll to the simple life. One reason why the new doll hasn't been heartily received in the United States is that all those sent over are characteristically and typically German in face, figure and gowns and that isn't the kind of doll the American child wants. Next year the German makers propose to have Americane. man makers propose to have American models for this market and to sell thousands of them.—New York Sun.

The horse started to run out of its stall, and in attempting to check his flight Dr. Dart was wedged between the door of the stall and the horse. He was rendered unconscious for a few minutes but recovered in time to drag himself and get his horse out of the barn, which by this time was burning furiously. The attention of neighbors was called to the fire and Dr. Dart was taken into his house, where he was given treatment. An examination showed that several ribs had been fractured and that he had sustained other bruises.

The Divorce Mill.

The divorce court is busy these days and tales of misery, abuse and scandal are being related everywhere. It is among the society people, however, that the most scandalous stories are told. The Gould case with all its unsavoriness had hardly dropped out of the public mind when the Brokaw case came up and is now on trial. The testimony of the wife and the insinuations of her husband's counsel clearly reveal the happenings of the Brokaw home. This is now the only case among the wealthy and they all tell pretty much the same story. Money in the hands of some men and women is a curse instead of a blessing.—New Britain Herald.

Leo Slezak, the great tenor, now sings for you in the Edison Phonograph the same famous arias from the Grand Operas that the New York audiences pay $5.00 a seat to hear. Just how great a singer Slezak is, is told in the following remark, quoted from the New York World the morning after a recent appearance of Slezak at the Metropolitan Opera House: "Caruso now has a rival." Slezak has made ten records for the Edison, comprising the principal tenor songs from the more prominent roles of his repertoire so that, while the New York opera goer pays $5.00 a seat to hear Slezak in one opera, with the Edison Phonograph and Amberol Records you get Slezak at his best in his ten best roles, including Otello, Lohengrin, Tannhauser, Rhadames in Aida and Rodolfo in La Boheme.

Only on Amberol Records can you get a full length rendering of these great arias-and only on the Edison Phonograph do you get Amberol Records. Hear these great Slezak Records at any Edison dealer's today.
